

PR | Women Artists from France is pleased to announce its second edition called Itinerancy #02 in New Hope, PA and New York. An Art exhibit presented by Gallery des Artistes

OCTOBER 2019

NEW HOPE, PA & NEW YORK, NY – Artists Gaëlle HINTZY-MARCEL, Rachel SCHARLY, Carole JURY and Isa SATOR are pleased to announce their participation at Itinerancy #02 represented by Gallery des Artistes.

As a dialogue between female artists, the itinerant exhibition Itinerancy # 02 brings together four French artists in the United States for its second edition. Thus, the story of "Itinerancy" will be told about how four arts, by their differentiations, complement each other, embrace each other and merge. The interaction between the materials and the prisms of each will highlight the simplicity to recognize, oneself ... The Galerie des Artistes, represented by Nicole Bonifay, is committed to showing these artists with very different horizons: figurative painting, abstract painting, photography and sculpture. "When the four artists presented me their exhibition project, I was immediately seduced by the history of these 4 women and the history of this traveling concept and by their artistic writing, each with its original perception. of the world around him" says Nicole Bonifay. After having succeeded the first edition in Paris with JPHT Gallery, last May, the worlds of each of these women artists will be gathered during this American event, second anchor of the traveling exhibition. To do this, two exhibition venues are organized.

About Women Artists from France to USA

Based in the creative heart of the East Coast of the United States, the Women Artists group was born from a friendship between French Women artists who wanted to share their own art through art exhibitions and give to the visitors an immersive art experience. The idea is to organize art exhibitions through the world. To realize these objectives, they signed partnerships with professional art curators. The first exhibit, on May 2019, took place in a prestigious place in Paris and was a success.

Next one, on October 2019, will take place in New Hope, PA famous and historic place for fine art and New York. Many other projects are being worked on!

About Rachel SCHARLY

Rachel is a mixed media artist. As a post graduated in Sociology Anthropology, Rachel has made extensive use of photography in her analysis and social studies. She has started to use photography as a tool for analysis, and photography as a tool to communicate sociological understandings. Naturally, she fell in art photography: creating her own vision of art photography by mixing images, urban language style and paint. She has nurtured her passion for urban environment and history with a series of projects in New York City, where she lives. The work has taken her across the five boroughs and beyond to document her different projects. Rachel mostly works on black and white since it evokes to her the timelessness, the suspended time and the contrast. She works on her pictures with acrylic and patchwork, using an urban language "as graffiti can be".

About Isa SATOR

Isa Sator has been a painter ever since she climbed out of her cot; she could paint before she knew how to read and write! After 10 years spent discovering other universes on the far side of the Pacific, she came back from New Caledonia as an entirely self-taught painter.
